

HeartSafe Workplace Initiative

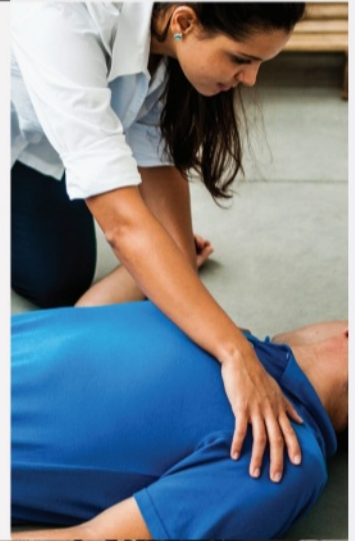

Sudden Cardiac Arrest: A Critical Challenge

- Cardiac arrest is the third leading cause of death in the US and can happen to anyone of any age.
- Last year, North Carolina had 10,000 cardiac arrest cases.
- Only 1 in 10 victims survives a cardiac arrest.
- Training the community in cardiac arrest awareness, CPR, and AED skills can increase survival.

Why Become a HeartSafe Workplace?

- Your workplace has an important role in saving lives in your local community.
- The HeartSafe Workplace award demonstrates your workplace's dedication to employee safety.

A HeartSafe Workplace in Action

Co-Worker Rescue

An employee who learned CPR during orientation saves a co-worker who collapsed in the breakroom, showcasing the workplace's commitment to preparedness.

Home Hero Moments

A CPR-trained employee working from home responds quickly to their child's cardiac arrest, showing that training received at the workplace can be used at home.

Community Lifesaver

An employee uses an AED to rescue a community member on the workplace's property, demonstrating a dedication to public well-being.
